

Introduction to Occupational Health And Safety for Community Organisations

Do you wish that you had a system for identifying health and safety risks before they turned into accidents? Do you believe that it is essential for your staff, managers, and board members to know what the law expects of them, and the potential fines, if they do not keep the workplace free from physical and psychological harm? If you answered Yes! to either of these, then this training will benefit your organisation.

What does it cover?

- Requirements for electing an OH&S representative
- How does this apply to volunteers?
- Defining areas of risk for not for profit groups
- What is the workplace?
- Who does the Act apply to?
- Starting the Risk Management system
- OH&S committees- Who to consult and who to consult with
- Implementing a culture of safety in your workplace
- Responsibilities of Employees/Employers under the OH&S Act

To register please fill in the following and fax or post to:

WACOSS, 2 Delhi St,
WEST PERTH 6005 -
F: 08 9486 7966
or email info@wacoss.org.au

Workshop Details:

Date: Monday 22nd October 2008

Time: 9:30am - 4:30pm

Venue: TBC - Nannup

Cost: FREE

Trainer: Zoe Warwick

Name: _____

Organisation: _____

Phone: _____

Email: _____

This workshop is not an accredited training course for elected Occupational Health and Safety Officers as defined by the Act.

Department of Local Government and Regional Development
Government of Western Australia

www.dlgrd.wa.gov.au