WACOSS Social Policy Seminar 10th of March

Putting the Public First: Implications of the Economic Audit Committee's Report for the Not for Profit Sector

On Wednesday 10 March WACOSS will be hosting the first in its yearly series of social policy seminars, Putting the Public First: Implications of the Economic Audit Committees Report for the Not for Profit Sector.

The seminar will discuss the report, Putting the Public First, delivered by the State Governments Economic Audit Committee. Delivered in three parts, the seminar will include an overview of the report, presented by the Department of Premier and Cabinet and a presentation by WACOSS on the implications of the report for the community services sector. This will be followed by general discussion surrounding the strategic issues relevant to the report and the ways forward from here.

This event will be important to attend for CEOs, managers and chairpersons of community service organisations interested in staying informed on important reforms to the delivery of social services
